THE VETERANS,

TOGETHER WITH SIGHTSEERS, FILL THE CITY OF COLUMBUS.

STREET PARADE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE G. A. R.

The Sons of Veterans Addressed By Ex-President Hayes—Mrs. Foraker Tenders a Reception to Governor Rusk and Staff. The Women's Relief Corps—Andrews' Railroad Raiders—Buckeyes as Souvenir-Notes

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12.—Every train that comes in brings hundreds to swell the already vast crowd of veterans and their friends. There are more than sixty thousand strangers in the city and still they come. The hotels and most of the private houses are full to overflowing, but the weather is good and everybody, notwithstanding the natural discomforts of being crowded, is good natured.

Gen. Sherman came in from Lancaster at noon, and was driven to his sister's immediately. Wherever the old fellows got a glimpse of the general the air rang with their shouts of welcome.

Monday was Sons of Veterans' day. A grand parade was made by the order, and in the evening a camp fire and reception was HAYES ADDRESSING THE SONS OF VETERANS. Held, at which ex-President R. B. Hayes and wife, Corporal Tanner, Gen. W. H. Gibson, Judge O'Neal, Governor J. B. Foraker, Gen. G. B. Abbott and other distinguished guests were present.

Among those most prominently mentioned for commander-in-chief are Judge Venable, of Vermont; Gen. John Palmer, of New York; Gen. William Warner, of Wisconsin; Hon. John C. Lincoln, of New Hampshire; Gen. M. M. Curtiss, of New York; Governor Alger, of Michigan; Col. Sexton, of Illinois; Gen. Gobbin, of Pennsylvania.

The Association of Naval Veterans held a meeting in the senate chamber, and passed resolutions to ask for increased pensions for the veterans of the navy.

Monday night posts came in from California, Oregon, Washington Territory, Colorado, Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana.

Monday evening Mrs. Governor Foraker tendered a reception to Governor Rusk and his staff at her residence. The remarkable

MRS. FORAKER RECEIVING GOVERNOR RUSK. thing about it is that Jerry Rusk's staff are all war veterans, each having an arm or leg missing.

All Monday night the veterans with their wives and children continued to pour into the city, and the camps and streets seem to be about filled. At an early hour the Grand Army men in uniform and led by drum corps began to form for the parade. There were eighteen divisions, eight of them comprising the Ohio department. The ninth division was made up of the Veteran Crippled Soldiers' association, Mexican veterans and the Andrews raiders, the naval squadron and the Fifth United States colored volunteer infantry.

The department of Illinois constitutes the tenth division. Wisconsin and Iowa combined to make the eleventh; Indiana was divided into the twelfth and thirteenth divisions; Kansas came in the fourteenth. The fifteenth included Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, Minnesota, Maryland, Maine, New Jersey and Virginia. Michigan was the sixteenth division. The seventeenth comprised California, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, West Virginia, Vermont, Arkansas, New Mexico, Utah, Tennessee, Georgia, Dakota, Potomac, Colorado, Delaware, Oregon, Kentucky, Washington Territory, Florida, Montana, Texas, and the Sons of Veterans came in as the eighteenth division.

In advance of the divisions, which marched in numerical order, were the police, the commander-in-chief with staff, and the Ohio battle flag veteran battalion. An immense and beautifully decorated reviewing stand, on Broad street, north of the state house, held the distinguished guests of the occasion. All along the line of march the streets were densely packed with people who cheered the veterans as they marched by.

When they passed the reviewing stand, where "Old Tecumseh" and others of their former leaders stood, caps were doffed, banners waved, while a constant roar of cheers went up from the passing columns. White-haired, feeble men forgot their age, and with tears streaming down their wrinkled faces, wildly cheered their beloved commanders. It was a scene that deeply moved each loyal heart. The parade was one of the grandest ever witnessed on similar occasion.

Gen. A. Banning Norton, of Texas, is one of the conspicuous figures among the great crowd. The general is the hero of two wars, and was adjutant general of Texas when Sam Houston was governor. He was an intimate friend of the great Henry Clay, and in 1844 took an oath that he would never cut his hair or shave his face until his idol was elected president. As a result his hair reaches to his shoulders, and his long white beard makes him an object of interest among the crowds. He carries a heavy ash cane cut on Clay's farm, Ashland, and presented to him by the great commoner while the general was visiting him in 1844. It has a silver head surmounted with a large silver dollar coined in 1844, and bearing the inscription, "H. Clay to A. B. Norton, October 3, 1844. In the Neil house corridors the cane was as great an object of interest as was his long-haired owner. Gen. Norton formerly lived at Mount Vernon, O., and will spend some weeks there before returning to Texas.

Some of the badges of the state delegations are unique and handsome. The Texas badge represents a bull's head, and the construction all of solid silver. The Colorado and Wyoming badges are a shield with a gold bull's head pendant. A bronze badge is the badge of the Wisconsin Grand Army men.

That emblem of Ohio, the buckeye, is playing a very prominent part in this encampment. Bronze buckeyes, with a medalion of Grant on the inside, are used as the badges of delegates. Everybody on the streets is wearing buckeyes attached to red, white and blue cords. A prize was offered for the county sending in the most buckeyes. There have been hundreds of bushels sent here, Butler county alone contributing over fifty bushels. The Buckeye state stands by the buckeyes, and tens of thousands of them will be carried away as souvenirs.

ANDREWS' RAILROAD RAIDERS.

The Survivors In Attendance, Together With the Famous Engine.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12.—It is generally acknowledged that no deed in the late war was as heroic and tragic as that of the Andrews railroad raid. A score of Federal soldiers, all Ohio men except the leader, in disguise, penetrated 200 miles from their own lines to the heart of the Confederacy, and seized a crowded railway train, at Marietta, Ga., within the lines of the enemy's camp. Their intention was to burn the railroad bridges on the Western & Atlantic road between Marietta and Chattanooga, and their success would have dealt a deadly blow to the Confederate cause. Only the unexpected encountering of two extra trains as they flew northward prevented their accomplishing all they proposed, and this obstruction gave rise to a thrilling chase on the rail. When obliged to abandon the captured train, the party dispersed in the woods, were hunted down with dogs, suffered a terrible imprisonment, and a third of their number, including their leader, perished on the scaffold. Of the remainder, eight escaped and six were exchanged a year after leaving their own camp. They received medals and commissions as rewards for their bravery, and the whole exploit has usually been considered the most daring of the war.

The raiders are the guests of Capt. S. B. Porter. These here are D. A. Dorsey, Kearney, Neb.; William Reddick, Wapello, Iowa; J. A. Wilson, Haskins, Wood county, Ohio; Rev. William Pittinger, Philadelphia; Capt. Jacob Parrott and wife, Keaton, O.; J. A. Porter, Plumtree, Ind.; John Wollam, Topeka, Kan.; William Bensinger, E. H. Mason, W. F. Brown, William Knight, all of Wood county, Ohio.

The celebrated locomotive, "The General," is also here. It belongs to Atlanta, Ga., and is the property of the Western & Atlantic railroad. The railroad, Western & Atlantic, Cincinnati Southern and Mullan, gave the celebrated engine free transportation to this city. The Pan-Handle Railroad company paid a spur track on Randolph street to bring it up to High street. This gratuitous work of the railroads will be duly appreciated by the people, thousands of whom view the engine daily. A guard of the Fourteenth regiment will be placed on duty around the engine, which will be in the grand parade. The raiders, who are in the city, are naturally much interested in "The General," and were among the first visitors.

Women's Relief Corps.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12.—As at former Grand Army reunions the ladies are active and enthusiastic participants. The Women's Relief corps will hold their annual National convention during the encampment. There are a large number of prominent women here, most of whom are wives, sisters or daughters of soldiers. The Women's Relief corps have their headquarters at the Masonic cathedral. The most notable women who are here to participate are Mrs. Kate B. Sherwood, of Toledo, wife of Gen. Isaac R. Sherwood, and the organizer of the corps in the west, and its second National president; Mrs. Florence Barker, of Malden, Mass., its first president; Mrs. Cora Day Young, of Toledo; Mrs. Emma Stark Hampton, the present National president; Mrs. Annie Wittmeyer, of Pennsylvania, a noted army nurse; Mrs. Clara Bartok, the famous president of the Red Cross society; Mrs. Gen. Logan, Mrs. R. B. Hayes, Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, National treasurer, of Boston, and Mrs. Armilla A. Cheney, National secretary, of Detroit.

There are many prominent Ohio women co-operating with the local reception committee. The general manager of the affair and president of the general committee is Mrs. Mary E. Bancroft, of Columbus.

The sixth annual convention of the National association will be held simultaneously with the Grand Army encampment. The society originated in the east, having been started by Bosworth post, G. A. R., of Portland, Me., in 1878.

In 1881 the friends of the latter association in the Grand Army presented the claims of the Woman's National Relief corps to the National encampment at Indianapolis, but failed to secure recognition. In 1883, at the Denver encampment, the corps became officially recognized, and is now included in the program of each National encampment as a feature of the reunion, although the proceedings necessarily are separate because the women are not members of the Grand Army, and the latter convenes in secret session.

FOREIGN NEWS.

English Comments on Cleveland's Letter. Earthquake in Greece—Notes.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The morning Post protests against holding the government responsible for the utterances of the Standard on the fisheries dispute. The Post says: "The subordination of the whole international question to the scuffle of political parties over the election of a president, is now fully emphasized."

The Daily News says of Cleveland's letter: "It is gratifying to find that the president does not wish to make retaliation a plank of his platform."

The Chronicle says: "The exclusion of the fisheries question from the letter of acceptance of President Cleveland is strong testimony as to the purely factious character of the rejection of the treaty. It is utterly impossible to doubt that the rejection of the treaty. It is utterly impossible to doubt that the re-election of President Cleveland would mean the eventual revival and ratification of the treaty. It is immaterial to discuss what President Cleveland's crusade should be called. He may give it any name he likes, as long as we know it is, in fact, a crusade of free trade."

Earthquake in Greece.

ATHENS, Sept. 12.—An earthquake at Vostizza, on the Gulf of Corinth, destroyed many houses, killed a number of people and injured several. The king has started for the scene of the disaster, and troops with supplies for the needy have been dispatched. Later news of the earthquake at Vostizza on the Corinthian gulf, show that every building in the place has been damaged and many of them entirely destroyed. Two bodies have been found and it is supposed that others will be discovered when the debris is cleared away, as many persons are missing. Most of these have doubtless fled through fright. A large number of persons have been injured, some of them seriously. Every village for miles around have suffered more or less, but no details have been received.

Carlism Monks.

MADRID, Sept. 12.—The monks of the Euferratria convent, who were ordered to be expelled from Spain for being connected with Carlism propaganda, have sent a petition to the queen humbly promising to refrain from agitation. The papal nuncio here has assured the government that the pope will check the Carlism clergy. Repressive steps have therefore been abandoned by the government.

Condemned By the Austrian Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The Austrian press condemns the resolutions adopted at Fulda and Freiburg in favor of the restoration of the temporal power of the pope. The papers declare that the restoration of temporal power would be an anachronism, besides giving Emperor William's visit to Rome an undesirable political character.

Fighting Pilgrims.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—News is received of a terrific fight between a body of pilgrims and a number of servants of the grand sheriff of Mecca, in which several of the combatants were killed and many wounded. The fight arose from the discovery that the sheriff was pursuing a system of defrauding pilgrims.

Boulangier in Russia.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Gen. Boulanger is in Russia. His absence from France led to much speculation as to what had become of him. It is said his object in visiting Russia is to discover the feeling of that country toward his own and toward the other powers.

The Emperor Reviews the Army.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—Emperor William reviewed the Third army corps at Temehof Common, and afterward rode to Berlin at the head of the color company of the Eighth regiment of infantry. Much enthusiasm for the emperor was manifested.

Ignorance of the London Police.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Numerous arrests have been made of persons suspected of being connected with the recent horrible murders in the vicinity of White Chapel, but none of those arrested have been held.

Still Mourning in Germany.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—In compliance with the wishes of the Dowager Empress Augusta and Victoria, the emperor has ordered the period of mourning at the German court to be prolonged three months.

Increasing the Austrian Army.

VIENNA, Sept. 12.—An imperial decree orders that the Austrian army be increased by fifteen new batteries and four new companies composed of Bormians.

2nd Min in Council.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The corridors of the Palmer house are crowded with delegates to the National grand council of the order of Red Men and representatives of the local lodges. Over four hundred delegates are already in the city.

WRECK ON THE N. Y., P. & O.

SEVEN KILLED AND MORE THAN A SCORE INJURED.

A Disabled Engine Causes a Crowded Excursion Train to Stop at the Foot of a Grade—A Freight Crashes Into the Rear Coaches With Awful Results.

AKRON, O., Sept. 12.—At 2:30 p. m. Monday, near Rittman, a station on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad, twenty miles west of this city, a Grand Army excursion train was run into, by a freight, and six persons were killed and twenty-five injured. The excursion train was filled with people from Youngstown, about seven hundred in all, bound for Columbus. As it reached the down grade a rod on the engine broke and the engine stopped in a narrow cut.

A flagman was sent back to warn freight No. 37, following closely after, but it was already on the grade. The engineer had barely time to reverse the engine and jump. His train crashed into the three rear coaches of the passenger. Most of those on the two rear coaches jumped and saved themselves.

Engineer Conrad, of the freight, jumped, as did his fireman. The latter escaped with slight injuries, but Conrad struck an embankment alongside the track and bounded back under the wheels and was crushed into a shapeless mass.

Brakeman W. E. Cochran, of the freight, jumped likewise, and he, too, was hurled back and ground under the wheels, his lifeless body being soon after taken out from the debris.

Samuel Bice and John Shook, Grand Army men, were crushed to death, and those sitting near were thrown in a broken, writhing heap. The excitement was intense. Men and women fainted at the awful sight, and for a long time the extent of the fatalities could not be ascertained.

Physicians, surgeons and a wrecking train were soon on the grounds.

Some of the wounded were taken to Wadsworth and others were laid on improvised cots on the ground.

Miss Ina Tucker, of Austintown, a suburb of Youngstown, lost a lower limb and died a few minutes after being taken out of the wreck.

Mrs. Given, of Canfield, another suburb, also died on the ground.

At 9 p. m. a special train came to this city bearing twenty wounded. While at the depot an unknown lady died, making seven killed.

The injured are: Charles Hoyle, Daniel McFadden, Thomas Marland, Mrs. Sarah Marvin, Christopher Daible, Mrs. D. Callahan, Mrs. J. L. Botsford, Miss Jones and Mr. Snyder, of Youngstown; Mrs. Dr. Hughes, of Berlin Center, O.; Dr. J. T. Cenna, of Canfield; Mrs. Hugh Manchester, of Canfield; Jonas Neff and Eli Neff, of Austintown; L. Nichol, of New Lisbon, O.; John Gault, of Jackson; Mrs. McFarland, of Cartersville, O.; Mrs. Alcott Wilson, William Leadt, P. Guhardt, of Galion, O.; and Mrs. Wilson, of Sharon, Pa.

A great many of them were injured seriously though not fatally. They were taken to farm houses where surgical attention was given them.

NORTH CAROLINA FLOODS.

Great Damage Done By Rain Storms in the Tar Heel State.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Sept. 12.—Rain has been falling here in torrents for the past seven days and nights. The storm, which struck this section last Friday, has already inflicted incalculable damage to the growing crops, and great disaster to the railroads, mills, factories, etc., along the wider course of the state. The rainfall has been uniformly heavy throughout North Carolina.

The cotton crop will be cut short fully one-third by the loss and shedding of bolls, and that which has already opened will be a total loss. Corn will suffer mostly on the new lands, while the fodder and hay crop will be a signal failure, but to what extent is not yet known.

The loss to railroads by washouts in this state alone will aggregate $100,000. A large trestle on the Richmond & Danville railroad, about eight miles from here, gave way Monday morning just as the caboose car of a freight train passed over it, and went down the stream. Several similar washouts are reported and the rain continues to pour.

Died for Love.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 12.—Frank Martlug, a barber, who came here from Cincinnati about six months ago, shot himself Sunday about 3 p. m., and died at the feet of Lena Webber, who had refused his attentions. Lena heard that he was a married man and told him to stop calling. Sunday he called to remonstrate, but after receiving a firm dismissal he took a pencil and paper and wrote a note, afterwards found to be to his father, of 53 Oliver street, Cincinnati, announcing his intention of committing suicide, and asking that he be buried simply. He then placed a revolver to his head and fired, falling dead before the horrified girl. He was a German, twenty-four years old. The body was turned over to the coroner.

The Lost Minister.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The department of state has received information in regard to his excellency, Hadji Hassen Kouli Khau Matamedel-Vesare, the Persian ambassador to this country, who was supposed to have lost his way on the journey to Washington. The information is to the effect that the minister left Teheran on August 4, intending to proceed to America by the Caucasus, Constantinople and Paris. Though the United States have been in treaty relations with Persia since December 1856, the new minister will be the first Persian representative ever accredited to this government.

Protection from Umbrella Flocks.

In New York a sagacious man with a diligent regard for the safety of his fellow beings has invented a globular rubber tip to go on the point of umbrellas and canes to prevent their improper intrusion into the eyes of human beings. The tips are on the same plan as the rubber guard on a foil. They hurt the appearance of a stick, but on an umbrella they are not so disfiguring.—Chicago Herald.

How Workingmen Have Been Humbugged.

The question is frequently asked: "Will the wages of laboring men be lessened if the Mills bill goes into effect?"

It is very clear that they will not. The reduction of tariff duties is so conservative that even if wages were affected by the tariff the working of this measure would not have any appreciable effect on wages. But the truth is the pay of laboring men is not governed by the tariff, but by the supply and demand for labor and by the facilities and opportunities afforded by the country.

France has a very high protective tariff and yet wages are lower in France than in free-trade England.

Germany has still higher protection, and yet wages are lower than in France, and far below what they are in England. This is shown by statistics.

If the tariff makes wages high Germany and the United States should be the paradise of laboring men, but this is not the case. Free-trade England and this country with identical conditions as regards capital and machinery, lead all other nations in the wages of laboring men.

No people on earth have been more deluded and humbugged than the working men of our country have been by monopolists and manufacturers who have continually demanded a high protective tariff for the benefit of American laborers, but who have always pocketed the receipts and let the workingman take care of himself.

Did any one ever hear of a manufacturer going out to hunt a high-priced laborer when he could get a low-priced laborer who would perform the same work as promptly and as skillfully? Did a protected manufacturer ever call his laborers around him at the end of the year and propose to divide with them his enormous profits? No; the millionaire manufacturer gets his laborer, like the railroad king, in the open markets of the world as cheap as possible.

Not only that, but sometimes Pinkerton police are placed at steel works, as was done recently at the Edgar Thompson Works, in Pennsylvania, for the purpose of protecting Hungarian immigrants who had been brought there to work, while the native American workingmen on a strike were kept out at the muzzle of a pistol. Not only that, but on the 4th of July, 1864, an act known as the "Contract Labor Law" was passed, which not only encouraged but legalized the importation of pauper labor from Europe to compete with American labor, and authorized a species of servitude in our free Republic which was as disgraceful as it was despicable.

The second section of this act was as follows:

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That all contracts that shall be made by emigrants to the United States in foreign countries, in conformity to regulations that may be established by the said Commissioner, whereby emigrants shall pledge the wages of their labor for a term not exceeding twelve months, to repay the expenses of their emigration shall be held to be valid in law and may be enforced in the courts of the United States, or of the several States and Territories; and such advances, if so stipulated in the contract, and the contract be recorded in the Recorder's office in the county where the emigrant shall settle, shall operate as a lien upon any land thereafter acquired by the emigrant, whether under the homestead law when the title is consummated or on property otherwise acquired until liquidated by the emigrant, but nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize any contract contravening the Constitution of the United States or creating in any way the relation of slavery or servitude.

This was passed by the Republicans, but a Democratic House of Representatives repealed the entire act in 1885, and a Democratic President approved an amendment to the act repealing it, which made the repealing act more effective in prohibiting the importation and immigration of foreigners and aliens under contract to perform labor in the United States.

Which of these two parties do workingmen think have been most friendly to their interests?

That great Irish Statesman, Daniel O'Connell, said: "THE REAL MEANING OF PROTECTION IS ROBBERY—ROBBERY OF THE POOR FOR THE RICH." And the point at issue in the present campaign is, whether this "robbery" shall be longer maintained, or whether there shall not be a just and equitable revision of the present burdensome war taxes. Why should the many working people of this country be longer taxed on the necessities of life for the benefit of the few "protected" monopolists?

The Uvas Tree of Civilization.

The continent is an armed camp. The nations labor, as the Jews rebuilt Jerusalem, with a sword in one hand and their industrial tools in the other. Restless, suspicious armies are encamped side by side where formerly nations lived and labored. Every year some one or other of these armies invents some more deadly weapon than its rival, some more terrible explosive, some more expeditious mode of slaughter. No sooner does this happen than all the others hasten to adopt it, piling on with desperate energy the panoply of armor beneath which humanity is crushed. Amid the ceaseless ebb and flow of human affairs, one phenomenon never varies. The sum total expended on making ready for slaughter constantly increases. Every year more and more is drained from the soil in order to feed the magazines. Every year the barrack gains on the cottage, and preparation for war becomes the absorbing preoccupation of a great proportion of the flower of our youth.

From every able bodied man this armed peace exacts three, four or five years of life when it is at its richest and brightest. When the youth steps into manhood and begins to dream of love and labor and of the sweet joys of home and family, there swoops down upon him the kidnaper of Mars and carries him off to the barracks and the camp. This vast organization for murder is the uvas tree of civilization, and all the continent is sickening under its fatal shade. The first cost is the cost in actual cash paid down, the second in life wasted at its prime, the third in the condition of unrest which saps the sense of security necessary for the prosecution of business. Business is difficult when peace is not worth three months' purchase. Every year commerce becomes more and more international. Every year, therefore, any disturbance of peace becomes more dangerous to the trader. Even the shadow of war now produces far more serious dislocation of industry than in old times was caused by the actual progress of a campaign. For in old times every parish was a little world in itself, a microcosm capable of independent existence, and able to carry on its own business and grow its own crop if all the rest of the world was in measureless confusion. Today all this has changed. A network of rail arteries and telegraph nerves now knits all Europe into one organism.—Fall Mail Gazette.

Fishes of the Sea.

Though no sharp line of separation can be drawn, marine fishes are roughly divided, for convenience, into three categories—shore fishes, which habitually frequent coast lines, and rarely descend to a greater depth than 800 fathoms; pelagic fishes, which inhabit the open sea, most of them spawning there also, and the deep sea fishes, which live where the influence of light and surface temperature is but little felt. The shore fishes, according to Helioph, number upward of 3,500 species. Their northern range extends to or beyond the eighty-third parallel of latitude, but in the southern hemisphere they are not known to go beyond the sixtieth parallel. In the different zones these fishes are largely identical in both the Atlantic and Pacific basins, as well as on the opposite side of these basins.

Tropical waters, however, produce a greater abundance and diversity of forms than those of temperate regions, while the reefs give to the Pacific and Indian oceans more species than the Atlantic. Our still very meager knowledge of the pelagic fishes is sufficient to indicate that the number of such types is very limited. They diminish rapidly from the equator, and become rare beyond the fortieth parallel. Of the deep sea fishes, Gunther enumerated upward of fifty forms supposed to have been obtained from depths exceeding 1,000 fathoms, twenty-six from depths exceeding 2,000 fathoms, and nine from 2,500 fathoms. Other species have since been obtained, one from the extreme depth of 2,000 fathoms—Land and Water.

"Oh, I mean no offense, none at all; it's your misfortune, not your fault. You see your skin is so thin that the blood shows through. You blush up easily and when the thermometer is over 150 in the shade your face gets so red and you look so uncomfortable that it drives away custom."—Omaha World.

Milton Young has, it is reported, refused an offer of $5,000 for his thoroughbred yearling Helter Skelter, which ran a quarter in 23 1/2 seconds at Lexington, Ky., on July 23.

The greatest cattle market in the world is at Deptford, near London, and, of course, the statistics show that the American breed is in the greatest demand, despite the finely built Dutch and Portuguese cattle.

Forty-nine stallions have made records of 2:20 or better, the ones to drop into the list this year being Brown, 2:18 1/2; Pennant, 2:19 1/2; Junemont, 2:18 1/2; Frank Buford, 2:20, and James G., 2:20. And yet to old-timers on the turf it does not seem so long ago since the first stallion to trot in 2:20—Mambrino Gift—performed that feat. It created a great sensation in those days, but now not a season goes by that does not bring out one or more 2:20 stallions.

THIRTY-TWO NEW CASES.

THE YELLOW SCOURGE SPREADS SLOWLY BUT SURELY.

The Sick Increasing Faster Than They Can Be Taken Care of—Jacksonville in Urgent Need of Doctors and Competent Nurses—Funds for the Sufferers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 12.—The situation is daily growing worse. The sick are increasing faster than they can be taken care of, as there is a great lack of nurses and doctors. Several of the last deaths are attributed to this condition of affairs. At the board of health office there were three applications for every one of the eighteen nurses who arrived from New Orleans, but the hospital claimed them all, and patients at their homes in the city had to depend upon the incompetent and grossly neglectful nurses they could get here.

There is still a great want of physicians and nurses. One hundred more nurses are needed. The mortality is still very light, where cases are promptly and properly treated and nursed. Several have died from want of proper nursing, being in charge of field hands who professed to be nurses. The board of health has issued a circular giving a formula of self-treatment that will be the occasion of much good.

It is estimated that there has been 80 percent more cases, principally very mild, than have been reported to the board of health. The order of the board that yellow flags be placed only at houses where relief is required has caused several physicians who heretofore concealed cases to report. Probably there have been nearly nine hundred cases in the city; three hundred or four hundred are under treatment now. The discharged are not now reported except from the hospitals. Liberal contributions are coming in from all parts of the union. The work of relief will probably not be hampered for lack of funds in the future.

Dr. C. H. Mallett, eminent commander of the Knights Templar of this city, has conceived the idea of opening a charity hospital under the auspices of the order for the general admission of yellow fever patients.

Several printers of the Times Union are down, but the proprietors are making a plucky fight to keep up its publication.

Editor Carter, of the Evening Metropolis, has recovered, and is at his desk again.

The official bulletin for Monday reports only thirty-two new cases of yellow fever for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 p. m., and six deaths; total number of cases to date, 636; total deaths, 79. Some regard the reduction in new cases as the effects of the storm, but physicians see no reason to hope for any abatement of the disease on that account.

LATER—Up to noon there were eighty deaths from yellow fever, two of which occurred this morning, and sixteen new cases were reported up to that time. This brings the total number of cases to date up to six hundred and forty-eight, and of these five hundred are still under treatment.

Funds for the Sufferers.
Galveston, Tex., has sent $1,200.
The Cincinnati chamber of commerce sent $1,135.

Citizens of Parkersburg, W. Va., have sent $200 in cash and will double the amount by the end of the week.

Two hundred dollars was collected from the clerks in the postoffice department at Washington Monday for the sufferers.

A gentleman, refusing to give his name, handed Mayor Hewitt, of New York, $12,000 in cash, a $10,000 gold certificate and two $1,000 bills, to be sent to Jacksonville. This makes the relief fund thus far $14,831.34.
